

Year 6

Year 6 have had an amazing start to the year! We now have prefects, who have been doing a fantastic job so far.

In English, the children have been hooked with our book as a hook: 'The Invention of Hugo Cabret' where they have written letters and diaries and moaned drastically when the book has been shut! We have got into the role of the character and hot seated using inference.

Our World War II topic took a flying start where the children have used maps and government reports to locate where in the UK properties were destroyed from bombs during the Blitz. We have explored propaganda and its influence in WWII and made our own posters to inspire. We researched and learned about the allies and axis and the countries they led.

We loved driving our class value, Justice, through our Trust art project. We have been collecting information and sketches on Christ the Redeemer. We presented our ideas imaginatively in our sketchbooks. Using skills of observation, we took inspiration from Christ the Redeemer and the Old Bailey statue of Justice and created a sculpture, which we felt depicted Justice well. We created Christ's hand as we felt he was a fantastic representation of Justice and the Justice scales, which show the importance of balance in the world. Look at the process...
